PROFILE

Passionate about design, ethical and sustainable practices. I believe fashion is a way to manifest your identity and individuality. With a major in fashion design and a minor in costume design, I focus on designing well-constructed and creative garments. I consider myself a well-rounded person not only by my design skills but also for being born and raised in Brazil and then moving to the U.S.A I have a different perspective and ideas. Along with pursuing my studies and career opportunity in Italy, of which I am also a citizen. I believe that I stand out from other fashion designers because of my multiethnic heritage and my willingness to be the best I can be and learn from my mistakes.
