Passionate about design, ethical and sustainable practices, and traveling. I believe fashion is a way to manifest your identity and individuality. With a major in fashion design and a minor in costume design, I focus on designing well constructed and creative garments. I consider myself a well-rounded person not only by my design skills but also for being from Brazil and moving to the U.S.A. I believe that I stand out from fellow fashion student peers by having a different perspective and my willingness to be the best I can be, learn from my mistakes, and keep learning within the industry.
